Intesa Sanpaolo wins the 2017 Consensus Economics Forecast Accuracy Award for Italy

Consensus Economics
Forecast Accuracy
Award Winner
Italy 2017

The macroeconomic analysis team of Intesa Sanpaolo has won the 2017 Consensus Economics Forecast Accuracy Award for Italy

Consensus Economics, the most famous institution specialized in collecting macroeconomic forecasts, has assigned to Intesa Sanpaolo the 2017 Forecast Accuracy Award for our forecasts on the Italian economy. Our macroeconomic forecasts for Italy are produced by the macroeconomic analysis team, and more specifically by our economist Paolo Mameli.

The Consensus Economics ranking is based on objective measures of forecasts accuracy, and focuses on GDP growth and inflation. Unlike others, it prizes the consistency of the performance: Consensus Economics calculates the mean average absolute error for the forecasts of each panellist for both GDP and CPI over a long 24 months forecasting period.